Eighth Army Awaits Word From POWs

SEOUL, Saturday, May 10 (AP)—An American general held captive for three days by tough North Korean prisoners of war on Kojie island has asked the Eighth Army not to attempt his rescue by force until full Communist demands are made known.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet disclosed today that the Allied command already had granted the hot-head Communist prisoners some minor demands in an effort to obtain the release of Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd. But the Eighth Army commander made clear he never would yield to "unreasonable" demands from the Reds. He insisted that the 52-year-old general be released unharmed.

Dodd commanded the sprawling prisoner of war camp on Kojie island off southeast Korea when he was seized Wednesday by North Korean prisoners. He has since been replaced.

"We have granted minor requests of the Communists and have asked them for a statement of their demands—telephones, writing paper, admittance of representatives to other compounds," Van Fleet said in a statement.

"Several requests from General Dodd not to use force until Communist views are determined have been granted," the Eighth Army commander added.

Van Fleet earlier had warned the Communist prisoners he would use force if necessary "at an early date" to free Dodd.

Battle-tested Eighth Army veterans were standing by on Kojie ready to go into action if the signal is given.

"ADDITIONAL security measures at Kojie have been taken," Van Fleet said. "The Communists have been told they must hand over General Dodd unharmed."

The last word out from behind the barred wire of the grim compound was that Dodd was being well treated. He said so himself. By telephone he said he apparently was in little danger.

Dodd, however, was shorn of his command of the rocky island prison off the southeast tip of Korea. Van Fleet made this announcement, but did not make clear whether Dodd would be restored to command later.

Van Fleet placed Brig. Gen. Charles F. Colson in command of the prison housing 80,000 prisoners and gave him "full authority and command to handle the situation."

Van Fleet also ordered an Army investigation of the incident. For one thing, he said, he wanted to find out "why the guards didn't rush in for a rescue attempt" when Dodd was seized at the compound gate.

Van Fleet made a flying visit Friday to the troubled island, scene of two previous prison riots. He would not permit correspondents to go to Kojie, saying the situation still was "too delicate."

FROM VAN FLEET'S statement, and from an Army news conference that lasted until early today, correspondents gained a clearer picture of the incredible plight of Dodd.

Dodd was captured by the prisoners of Compound 76 at 3:15 p.m., Wednesday as he stood talking at the gate with his leaders. Lieut. Col. Wilbur R. Raven also

Gives Thanks for Recovery

Andrew Motko, 323 Cherry street, lights a vigil-light candle in St. John's Greek Catholic church, as part of his daily visit to the church in gratitude for almost miraculous recovery from skull and brain injuries in a motorcycle accident. The 27-year-old was unconscious for nearly five weeks. After he regained consciousness, he could neither walk nor talk. Through long hospitalization and self-discipline he has learned speaking all over again and can walk without assistance. The vigil-light will symbolize a continuation of his prayers.

Injured Man Has Worked Hard To Come Back After Accident

By FRED C. SELBY
(Mercury Staff Writer)

"It was like a very long dream—because I always had a very good feeling inside."

This was how 27-year-old Andrew Motko, 323 Cherry street, yesterday described his 9-month struggle to come back from skull and brain injuries that caused him to lie unconscious for nearly five weeks and that left him without even the power of speech.

On May 6, 1951, Motko was hurled from his motorcycle on Rahm's Hill, Sanatoga, when the cycle collided with a car that was making a left turn.

That was the last thing he remembered for the 5-week period. Even after he regained consciousness, he had at first only a blurry impression of his surroundings.

A Pottstown surgeon said yesterday that injuries such as Motko had are usually fatal.

HIS MOTHER, Mrs. Andrew Motko, whose husband died in 1943, recalled that her son was completely unconscious for the long period in Memorial hospital.

Then, one Sunday, she said, a nurse said to her barely-conscious son: "Look who's here. Do you know who this is?"

The mother recalled, "He just looked over at me. He went, 'Ohhh! It's Mom!' His mother was the first person he had recognized.

An operation the day after the accident relieved most of the tremendous pressure on his brain. He had a severe skull fracture, a contusion of the brain, a concussion, and a dislocated right shoulder.

Long after he came to life, he had a partial paralysis of virtually the entire right side. Damage to the brain had destroyed almost all his power of speech.

THE MOTHER and son praised Dr. Caesar F. Sarni, not only for his part in the original repair work but also for working persistently to help him get admitted to Philadelphia General hospital, which has a rehabilitation clinic for such cases.

In order to become eligible to enter this hospital, mother and son had to establish residence in Philadelphia first.

At the clinic, he was given electric treatment that helped reduce the paralysis and he took daily lessons in speech. Motko knew what he wanted to say but he couldn't get the words out until new paths had been made in his brain through constant drilling.

Altogether, Motko spent nearly seven months in hospitals.

He's been practicing walking daily and taking exercises of his right arm on an ingenious contraption erected outside his mother's home by a brother, Joseph Motko, 22 West Fourth street.

While they felt they owed a great deal to Dr. Sarni, Mrs. Motko said, they believed it was: "God

Leon MacMullen Council Will Dies; Was Civic, See Project Political Leader Monday Night

By FRANK J. DOSTAL
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Leon C. MacMullen, 55, one of Pottstown's most outstanding Democratic leaders and a one-time candidate for the U. S. House of Representatives, died in the Pottstown hospital at 8 o'clock last night.

He had been critically ill of a heart ailment since Saturday, April 26, and had been confined to an oxygen tent. His death, however, came suddenly after two days of marked improvement.

MacMullen, who lived at 11 North Franklin street for the past 11 years, was active in the Democratic party almost from the time he came to Pottstown 12 years ago. He consistently refused to run for political office until 1950 when he opposed Rep. Samuel K. McConnell Jr., Republican incumbent, as the Democratic candidate for the House of Representatives.

He suffered a heart attack during the campaign, but believed the issues were vital enough to disregard his physician's advice to curtail his activities. He accompanied Francis J. Myers, former Democratic U. S. Senator, and Richardson Dilworth, present Philadelphia district attorney, on extended tours of Montgomery county in an effort to defeat the Republican organization.

He lost to McConnell in the general election by a vote of 64,607 to 31,540.

FOR THE past two years, MacMullen was engaged in a battle against the regular Democratic county organization headed by County Commissioner Raymond K. Mensch. He was defeated by Mensch in his second bid for public office as county commissioner in 1951.

Prior to his split with the regular party organization over policy, MacMullen was one of the leaders of the Pottstown Democratic club and one of its most ardent workers. Friends credited him with the reorganization of the local party which was responsible for the Democratic return to power in the borough in the mid-40's.

He was one of the most out-

Eighth Board Asked to Join New District

By ED ZUMACH
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Solicitors for interested school boards will not draw up a tentative agreement for the formation of a vast Upper Perkiomen joint school board until Upper Salford, eighth and latest board to be invited into the proposed jointure, decides whether it will participate.

Postponement of the agreement was announced last night in the Green Lane school by Raymond Pearlstone, Green Lane-Marlbrough joint board solicitor, after he and A. M. Kulp, Montgomery county schools superintendent, explained the intricacies of jointure to the Upper Salford board.

Kulp said Upper Salford had been invited by the Green Lane-Marlbrough joint board to participate in a proposed jointure in the Upper Perkiomen valley of seven other boards because it had realized Upper Salford has wanted to abolish its four one-room schools for some time.

East Greenville, Upper Hanover and Red Hill school boards already have formed a three-member Upper Perkiomen Joint School board, but a movement has been underway to expand it to seven member boards and include Pennsburg, Green Lane, Marlborough and Summeytown Independent.

'Mose' Moore Is Fined $150, Will Lose License for 1 Year

Norman "Mose" Moore, 25-year-old Pottstown speedway driver, who said he didn't have any recollection of fleeing police after a crash on Route 663 the past February, was given a judicial explanation of the flight yesterday: he was drunk.

Montgomery County Judge George C. Corson offered the explanation before sentencing him to pay a $150 fine and the costs of prosecuting him on a charge of failure to render assistance at the scene of an accident.

As the judge also pointed out, in praising Pottstown and Sanatoga patrolmen, the conviction will result automatically in the revocation of Moore's license for a year.

Before sentencing the speedway driver, Judge Corson reminded him that if he had been convicted after pleading not guilty, it would have been his duty to hand Moore a jail sentence.

MOORE PLEADED guilty at a trial the past month. The jury failed to agree. He changed his plea to no defense Wednesday.

A Fellow's Got to Watch Out

People who live near State street and Reynolds avenue (intersection at right) aren't even safe in their own backyards. Five-year-old Terry Detwiler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Detwiler, 564 State street, looks over the spot where a car crashed through the fence into a backyard where a 2-year-old girl plays regularly. Cars come around a sweeping curve on State street to the left of this scene, or swoop down a steep hill from the right.

Warrants Issued for 4 Officers Of Owls Following 'Slots' Raid

Warrants for four officers of Pottstown Owls Home association, including a veteran Montgomery county courthouse worker, were issued yesterday morning as a result of the raid on the lodge home Thursday, when six slot machines were seized.

Their hearing was scheduled for Monday at 4 p. m. before Justice of the Peace Charles J. Gorman, Norristown.

He issued the search warrant Thursday and issued the arrest warrants after the officers' names were certified by District Attorney J. Stroud Weber, who had ordered the raid.

The courthouse employee is Earl E. Wentzel, 138 Beech street. Secretary of the home association of Pottstown Nest 1393, Order of Owls, he is photostatic operator in the recorder of deeds office.

Wentzel also is a veteran Republican committeeman from the West ward. He was renominated for this post in the past month's primary.

THE OTHER three home association officers for whom warrants were issued are David Yerger, 43 Walnut street, president; Cyrus Kulp, 440 Lincoln avenue, treasurer, and Martin "Irish" Friedman, Linfield, steward.

The charge against all of them is "setting up and maintaining gambling devices."

The names of the men were turned over to the justice of the peace.

ACCIDENTS ARE TOO FREQUENT

State Street Dangers Feared

Residents of the State street and Reynolds avenue neighborhood yesterday blamed confusing grade conditions and erratic road shoulders for contributing to the danger of pedestrians and motorists on heavily-traveled State street.

Accidents, minor and major, have occurred frequently on State street. There have been two so far this week.

Thursday morning, a Pottstown RD 3 man was injured seriously and his car demolished when he failed to make a turn north of the borough.

Wednesday afternoon, a car was hit at Reynolds avenue and State street and sent plowing into 20 feet of fence around the back yard of Thomas J. Wocklish, 68 Reynolds avenue.

Wocklish said yesterday his 2-year-old daughter, Marsha, usually is playing in the yard in the afternoons but fortunately was not there when the car ripped down the fence.

In addition to accidents serious enough to be reported to police, residents said, there are numerous minor collisions. Wocklish, who has lived there only a little more than a year, said he already has had to pick up glass several times after headlight-smashing mishaps.

THE INTERSECTION between a steep rolling hill to the north, down which many cars come a-flying, and a long curve to the south, which fast-moving cars would have difficulty negotiating.

The sidewalk situation is both confusing and dangerous, residents pointed out.

One longtime resident, Gerald J. Daly, 619 State street, completed a $400 sidewalk the past August.

The sidewalk is 2 feet above the road bed and 14 inches above the gravel walk immediately south of their property. The height of the walk makes it impossible to use their driveway and makes it almost impossible for trucks to unload there.

Mrs. Daly stood on the cliff-like sidewalk and commented with a smile. "These are the lines they gave us. What can we do about it?"

SHE EXPLAINED that before having the sidewalk laid, her husband had to get the prescribed sidewalk grades from the office of the borough engineer.

At the southwest corner of State street and Reynolds avenue, there is a curb but no sidewalk. If the curb line was extended it would meet their sidewalk, all right, Mrs. Daly pointed out, but not without cutting into State street itself.

At present, between the Daly sidewalk and the southwest corner, there is a narrow path atop a little dirt embankment. The embankment begins as a wide one, then as it nears the dangerous corner, it tapers off to a tiny embankment that is practically on top of the roadway itself.

There is no sidewalk at all on the east side of State street.

On Reynolds avenue, north of State street, there are sidewalks, but the road, which is on a steep hill running down

The president, Miss Laura R. Ecker, presided. A report was given by the recording secretary, Mrs. Eschbach, who also read two letters received from Senator Edward Martin and Representative Samuel K. McConnell in reply to petitions sent by the union.

"Parents play a very important part in the life of a child," he said. "They should be awakened to right living for a better way of life."

Wives Help Support Families; Percentage High in Some Areas

One wife out of every three in the United States is now contributing at least some income to the support of her family, according to new government estimates cited this month by the Institute of Life Insurance. And the percentage is even higher than this in cities, the new report shows.

All together there are around twenty-five million women in the United States who are earning money or have some income of their own. Most of this is earned by jobs outside the home, although the totals include income from investments, from property, from pensions from insurance and from other sources. More than ten million of the women who have outside income are married and living with their husbands; the other fifteen million are sisters, daughters and other relatives living with their families, women who are heads of their own families and single women, widows and divorced women who live alone.

There is a larger proportion of income-earning women living in cities than in rural areas, the new study reveals. One reason for this is that there are more job opportunities for city women; another reason is that farm women are in a better position than their city sisters to contribute to their family's income by working at home. In cities and on farms alike women who have small children are much less apt to have jobs away from home than are other women.

In city families where the husband is earning less than $3,000 a year, somewhat more than thirty percent of all wives work. In families where the husband earns $5,000 or more, only about fifteen percent of the wives work.

Son's Disintegrated

"My husband and I are at our wits' end about our son," writes a distressed mother, and continues: "He married a girl we have tried to take to our hearts, but simply can't. She is so sloppy, careless, dirty and lazy that she is dragging my son down to her level in these matters, and her children as well. Her home is a mess all the time, as she is always sleeping.

"They have three lovely children, and we want to do all we can for them, though it is difficult, as she lets them come to see us only when convenient for her to have them out of the way. When they do come to see us, they are so dirty that I am ashamed of them. They always need good baths, and I try to clean them up, but I can't do much about it because their clothes are always so dirty. Altogether, I am ashamed that their mother is my son's wife.

"AS FOR my son, she rules him entirely. He does exactly as she says. He had nice manners before he married, but has lost them. He wears dirty clothes, too, and always needs a shave. Since his wife controls the pocketbook, they are always way behind financially, even though there should be ample funds coming in to keep things going.

"My son is hurt because we don't go there any more to eat or to spend an evening, but it just got more than we could take, as we are not used to the kind of home they have. It is a most unpleasant situation, and it is breaking me all up, though my husband takes it another way and is becoming very angry about it.

"My husband and I are not young any more, and we need our son in so many ways to help us. Do you think there is any way I can get things straightened out without creating hurt feelings between his parents and his wife and having her look on me as an interfering mother-in-law? I might say that she has proved not to be a friend to us, as she talks about us behind our backs and we hear echoes of it from relatives and others."

NOW SINCE this son was, his mother indicates, brought up in Young women seem to have a deep interest in feminine weights and measurements. There cannot be definite charts on this subject because of the variations of the feminine shape. The fad for measuring can be overdone. Although there is an average height and weight for girls of different ages, that does not mean that all girls must conform to this standard in order to be considered good looking.

It is right and natural for some young ladies to have well-developed figures, while others have slimmer lines and a more slender silhouette. Some girls have long, heavy bones. Others of daintier build have small bones. Naturally the first will weigh more than the second one. These inheritances must be taken into account. If one maintains good posture, has grace of movement, a few pounds one way or the other is of no importance, nothing to worry about.

Consider movie stars. Bette Davis is a bit curvaceous, but she has magnificent shoulders and carries herself beautifully. Katharine Hepburn is slender, curves almost absent, yet her figure qualifies. So it goes.

There are weight charts to be had, but it is silly to consider them reliable because of the conditions we have just mentioned. Every year the measurements of the winning Miss America are published. They inspire thousands of girls to get out the old tape-line, hoping that they will qualify.

American Decorators Find New Uses for India's Art

This season's decorating discovery is the India print. In thousands of American homes these colorful fabrics, depicting life and legend in India, are bringing an exotic new beauty to draperies, bedspreads, slip covers and even women's clothing.

The unusual color combinations that distinguish these fabrics are uniquely Indian, and cannot be duplicated by American methods. Reds, yellows, blues and greens harmonize instead of clashing. The Indian artist does not hesitate to combine colors which, to most Western eyes might appear too bright and garish when viewed separately.

Yet in the finished material the colors blend into an harmonious whole. Indian art and color are based upon nature, and since such color combinations exist in nature, the artist does not hesitate to copy them.

But fabrics are not the only products of India finding their way into American homes. Soon we may display examples of the art of the woodcarver, the sculptor in marble and clay and the brass and copper hammer, all the crafts that have been synonymous with India through the centuries.

Prevent Moths When Putting Away Your Clothing for Winter

How about a store-as-you-go plan for winter garments? You can save time and work when you store garments as they go out of season instead of doing the job all at once.

Regardless of the material, wool or rayon or what have you, a good cleaning is a must. Moths prefer dirty or soiled clothing to spanking clean garments. Another benefit of pre-cleaning is that you destroy all moth eggs and larvae during the washing or dry cleaning process.

For storing clean garments, you'll find plastic bags are ideal. Or you can use paper bags the cleaner sends your clothes in . . . but when you use these be sure to cover all openings with cellophane or paper tape so moths can't get in. A hole the size of a pin point is large enough for a moth to get in, should it choose to do so. For blankets, a good tight cardboard carton is still one of the best containers.

FOR EXTRA protection during storage, you can spray garments and other wool articles or pack them with crystals that produce death dealing vapors. When you use crystals, the vapor is likely to be heavier than air and tends to settle. So if you use crystals, they'll give more protection if you put them in the top of the sealed package or other storage unit.

As to where you put your clean-woolens for summer storage . . . ordinarily storage space usually is satisfactory. The important thing is to have the fabrics well protected so moths can't reach them.

If you adopt a store-as-you-can plan for your family clothing, you'll find the job of putting winter clothes away for the summer is easier. And that's an advantage when it comes to the rush of cleaning and other spring work.

Weird, Wonderful Describe New Styles Displayed in Paris

PARIS, May 9 (AP) — Feminine fashions this Summer will range from weird and wonderful to simple and unsophisticated.

Paris designers produced a lot of eye-catching nonsense but no serious new trends during the middle of the fashion season just finished.

The briefest sunsuits and bathing suits, bathing suit tops on dresses and slacks, and deeply rounded out necklines make it look as if sunbats will be popular. Sun-lovers will be sure to approve the new styles, but as a sop for the lady who likes to keep a lily-white complexion there are also big cloche-shaped shady hats.

***

THREE OF the liveliest collections were Heim's Schiaparelli's, and Hubert De Givenchy's.

Heim made his audience gasp with audacious two-piece bathing suits and transparent open-work lace dresses worn over bathing costumes. One model was draped in an abbreviated black siren sarong.

Walking-stick handbags, sunglasses clipping over the top of the head in a man-from-mars effect, witch doctor jewelry and towelling cloth dresses were some of the novelties adding sparkle to Schiaparelli's style parade.

In planning a new kitchen or modernizing an old one, the wise homemaker will install a gas incinerator to take care of garbage and trash disposal, and get rid of smells and pests.

2-Year-Old Boy Goes Exploring For Chocolates

"I got candy," 2-year-old Michael Mason managed to say, showing his mother a handful of chocolate kisses wrapped in silver paper and displaying an equal amount in his mouth each time his jaws opened to bite down on the candy—silver paper and all.

When Mr. and Mrs. Gordon A. Mason, 813 Spruce street, walked into borough hall at 7:40 o'clock last night, Mrs. Mason audibly breathed a sigh of relief and exclaimed, "I hear him," meaning little Michael for whom the couple had been searching for the past half hour.

But while his parents frantically searched for him, little Michael was innocently having a lark.

Michael's explorations began when John Panoc, 124 South Franklin street, found him standing in the middle of South street between Charlotte and Evans streets. Panoc snatched Michael from the path of an on-coming automobile.

PANOC GAVE Michael a piece of candy after it was determined that his parents were not in the vicinity and off the pair trotted to borough hall for new territories for Michael to conquer.

Big, burly but soft-hearted Desk Sergeant Russel B. Hummel was an easy target for the smiling youngster when Hummel propped the boy up on his knee. Little Michael was soon stuffing himself with candy kisses.

Michael's escapades ended when his parents walked into borough hall, but it is feared that there may be a repeat performance unless the Masons keep well supplied with candy chocolate kisses.

County Cash Balance Is Lowest in Years

By Staff Correspondent

NORRISTOWN, May 9 (AP)—The cash budget balance of Montgomery county dropped to the lowest point it has been in recent years on April 30 when only $25,278.20 was in the coffers to meet current expenses, according to the monthly statistical report of the office of Controller Joseph Green today.

Because of this situation, county officials have made arrangements to borrow $300,000 in tax anticipation notes in $100,000 installments during the period until July when 1952 taxes will start to roll into the treasury.

April opened with a cash balance of $141,887.83. Receipts during the month in taxes, department returns, fines, licenses and miscellaneous totaled $1,678.39 and expenditures in April were $158,288.02.

Balances on April 30 in the county institution district accounts included $42,028.12, general fund; $11,289.09, inmates funds in escrow; $16,700, bonds; $233.03, tax penalties, and $17.61, transfer.

Balances in other county-controlled funds include: $158,975.50, liquid fuel tax; $62,047.31, transfer and escrow; $2249.18, treasurer's sales, redemptions; $45,600.68, tax liens; $854.66, tax penalties; $2811. State funds; $14,206.42, withholding tax.

THE ARMY show included smart rifle drills by two segments of the regiment, a sham battle replete with all types of portable guns and a dress parade by 800 troops of the regiment.

The 507 youngsters from the drill teams, bands and safety patrols from area public and parochial schools, and their chaperones, are staying at the Hotel Roosevelt. The entire group is expected to arrive in Pottstown in its bus convoy about 10 o'clock tonight.

spoken speakers at the regular club meetings in library hall and a moving force in the selection of ward workers. Most important, he was an active campaign worker and fund raiser for the local party.

In this latter role, he served as finance chairman for the Pottstown Political Action committee.

MAC MULLEN DID NOT confine his activities chiefly to politics throughout his career in Pottstown. He contributed heavily to the success of War Bond drives in the borough throughout World War II, served as publicity chairman for the American Red Cross drive immediately after the war and led one of the most successful March of Dimes campaigns ever held in Pottstown.

He was friendly with most of the labor leaders of the borough's large CIO unions and acted as a mediator in labor disputes at the Spicer Manufacturing division of the Dana corporation and at the Firestone Tire and Rubber company.

During the coal strike in 1947, MacMullen was named chairman of the coal conservation committee in Pottstown. He later headed the Citizen's Airport committee which raised funds for the purchase and construction of the Pottstown Municipal airport which will be opened and dedicated in the near future.

He served as a member of the equalization committee which equalized assessments on various High street and business properties several years ago and had been a consistent supporter of equalized assessments throughout the borough. He believed it was every citizen's responsibility to bear his fair share of the costs of government.

A native of Coopersburg, he was a son of the late Hardee and Caroline (Weaver) MacMullen. He worked for many years during the depression as a sales promoter, helping to reorganize and revitalize various stores in financial the borough planning and zoning commission, said the commission has recommended council approve the project at Monday's session.

The borough will have to approve the two courts and agree to ordain them upon completion of the project.

THE BOARD of adjustment reviewed the appeal of Welsh to build the 24-unit apartment this past March 25 at a hearing in council chambers.

Thirty-five North End residents, represented by Attorney Julian W. Barnard, Norristown, protested the “U”-shaped brick apartment. They presented a petition signed by 110 residents opposing the apartment. Attorney L. Stanley Mauger appeared on behalf of Welsh. Sanders testified on features of the apartment.

A half-dozen residents testified against the apartment. Chief reason for opposition was the congestion which they said would be caused by 24 additional families in the restricted area and the increased traffic which would result from the project.

Residents also said the first apartment probably would be followed by a second apartment facing Spruce street.

After three hours of argument and testimony the board agreed to study the issue and announce a decision a few days later.

***

THIS PAST March 31 the board unanimously rejected the appeal for an exception to the zoning law. Members of the board pointed out the project was not in keeping with the best development and growth of the area.

At the hearing and in previous statements residents of the area agreed the land should be utilized. They favored single dwelling units for the tract.

The new development is another boost to Pottstown home building which includes the announcement of more than 500 dwelling units since this past winter.

Previous to Welsh's 28 homes was the announcement of 502 Amish dwelling units in various building developments. Most of these are single homes.

Welsh's 28 homes raises the value of developments under construction above the five and one-quarter million mark.

Although there were many census in the ancient world, the Middle Ages developed a prejudice against them which extended into comparatively modern times.

Amish Classifications Described by Pastor

The Rev. John L. Smoker, pastor of the Baltzell Evangelical United Brethren church, last night said that the Amish way of life is divided into three distinct groups.

At a meeting of St. John's Reformed church brotherhood, the Rev. Smoker told the group that the main subdivisions of the Amish are the Amish Mennonites, the Church Amish and the Old Order Amish.

The Amish Mennonite leans more closely toward accepting the modern way of life in that he uses automobiles, radios and electric appliances.

At the other extreme of the subdivisions, the Old Order Amish follow the patterns accepted by the Amish who originally settled in Pennsylvania.

THE CHURCH Amish represented a group which accepts some of the

Young Motorcyclist Hurt on State Street

Albert Rhoads, 15, of Pottstown RD 3, suffered an injury to his left knee and contusions of the body last night when the motorcycle he was learning to ride upset and apparently dragged him on State street, near Freese's Heights.

The youth was taken to Pottstown hospital by a neighbor and admitted for treatment.

State police of the Jeffersonville barracks requested their station be notified before Rhoads is discharged. He reportedly was operating the vehicle after his license had been taken away.

modern age. They allow their children to attend school even after they are past the age when the Old Order says they should assume the responsibilities of men and work on the farms.

500 Pies Produced By 1 Pumpkin Seed

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Out-of Missouri today came the story of a single pumpkin seed which produced the makings of over 500 pumpkin pies in one season.
Dr. Leonard Haseman, University of Missouri entomologist, told about it in scoffing at an account by a Sarvard scientist concerning the remarkable growth of ivy vines on Sarvard's hallowed halls.

Haseman in a letter to the technical journal "Science," teased off on a previous report by a Dr. Zacks of Harvard that the ivy grows so fast there that
"you can almost see it grow."
Minor league stuff, said Haseman, in effect, as he told the story of a pumpkin vine grown from a single pumpkin seed in the backyard garden of a University of Missouri professor.

NOTING THAT the Harvardian had claimed a close to three inch average daily growth rate for the Crimson's ivy vines, Haseman said the Missouri pumpkin vine "made
the Missouri pumpkin vine "made an average daily growth of over five inches, so one could ACTU-ALLY see it grow."

Haseman, who apparently spent much of the past Spring and Summer on his pumpkin project, offered these other vital statistics:
"In the 173 days, or 249,120 minutes, of its active life the plant produced a total over-all vine growth of 1986 feet...
but that is not all."
"While growing almost twice as fast as the (Harvard) ivy, this vine also produced 20 pumpkins weighing a total of 300 pounds, besides several small immature ones."

Scientists of the company, which is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Pittsburgh Coke and Chemical company, said the insecticide kills either as a stomach poison or a contact poison when it reaches the nervous system.

Systox does not kill beneficial parasites or warm-blooded animals, the scientists said.

Graph for Gardeners

CUTTING NOT TREATED WITH ROOT HORMONE      CUTTING TREATED WITH ROOT HORMONE

Powder Hormone Is Help in Garden

A hormone in powder form is now available for home gardeners which makes the rooting of cuttings a simple matter. This newer method of rooting does away with the guesswork which was often necessary when plant hormones were available only in liquid solution.

Now one only has to dip the bottom half inch of the cutting in the dry hormone powder and then set it in moist sand or even in a glass of water until roots form.

The accompanying graph tells the story. One cutting from a wax begonia was not treated with powdered root hormone and, as illustrated, its root and leaf growth are meager.

This hormone is useful in forcing roots to form on certain plants which otherwise are very difficult to root.

High Food Cost Called Myth

The high cost of food is a myth, before 1939. The wage-food ratio in fruits and vegetables was more favorable to the worker in 1951 than at any time since 1935, with the exception of 1941.

The years of 1943, 1944 and 1945 were the only ones since 1935 in which the worker had a less favorable wage-dairy product ratio than in 1951. The report shows that an hour of factory labor in 1951 bought more eggs than at any time since 1935.

Money can be saved by buying fertilizer on the basis of the cost per pound of plant food rather than the cost per ton.

The average factory worker is 20 percent better off in the ratio of wages to the cost of all foods than he was in the years before World War II, figures show.

In 1951, the latest year for which figures are available, the ratio was 123.1, more favorable than at any time before 1941.

THOUGH THE price of meat has come in for the loudest complaints, the report shows that a worker could buy more meat in 1949, 1950 and 1951 with his hour of work than he could at any time before 1941.

Profit Margin Declines on State Farms

HARRISBURG, May 8 (AP)—Agriculture leaders are worried over the declining profit margin on Pennsylvania farms.

Miles Horst, State agriculture secretary, has openly expressed concern over the falling profit margin.

"Prices in general have been dropping for five straight months while the cost of things farm folks need to live on and operate their farms with, have been increasing," Horst commented, adding:

"This situation is not good, and there doesn't seem to be much chance of betterment over last year."

Coupled with the problem of meeting higher prices is the scarcity of farm labor in Pennsylvania. Horst said farmers are disturbed about the scarcity of skilled workers. He emphasized that many have had to curtail operations on this account.

WHILE FARM prices were going down in Pennsylvania in the past five months, farm costs and wages were advancing. This has resulted in the purchasing power of the farmers' dollar dropping one cent to 98 cents, which compares with 99 cents a year ago, a recent agriculture survey showed.

The farm profit situation has also brought an expression of concern from Clyde A. Behner, chairman of the State Production and Marketing Administration committee.

"Only a part of the price the consumer pays in the market places goes to the farm, and out of that he must meet increasing production expenses," Zehner stated.

"According to Department of Agriculture reports," he added, "Farmers' total production expenses in 1952, for the country as a whole, will average about 5 or 6 percent higher than in 1951 and the highest on record."

Such costs, Zehner noted, have risen in almost every year since 1938, as both cost rates and the quantities of items used in production have increased.

Gully Control Is Aid Flower Growers To Meet Tuesday

According to Assistant County Agent James F. Haldeman, it is not too late to give some attention to controlling gullies and excessive runoff of rain from your fields by establishing contour or strip farming practices on your farm.

The best place to do this work is in sod fields which will be plowed for corn. This method will provide for alternate strips of corn and sod, thereby giving maximum protection of the soil from heavy rains.

Strip cropping is only part of a good soil management program. Proper rotations of crops are important to assure cover or protection to alternate strips at all times. The use of rye grass or other cover crops in corn, recommended seedings and the use of adequate amounts of fertilizer, and the plowing down of green manure crops and sod to furnish organic matter in the soil, are recommended.

The elimination of any one of these practices may mean the failure of establishing strips or contours. Our recent heavy rains seem to prove the need for establishing soil building practices.

INFORMATION and help will be given to any Montgomery county land owner or farmer by contacting the Montgomery County Agricultural Extension Service, in the post office building at Norristown. The building of farm ponds for fire protection, recreation, livestock watering and irrigation is receiving a lot of attention in Montgomery county. If you have a constant water supply from a spring or small creek with the proper grade and location, you may be interested in further information or help in picking a pond site, or the actual lay-out of the pond area.

Shantz Posts 4th, Checks Nats, 9-3

PHILADELPHIA, May 9 (AP)—Little Bobby Shantz, Philadelphia's five foot six inch southpaw, pitched a six hit 9-3 triumph over the Washington Senators tonight while posting his fourth decision of the year and first over the Senators since 1949. The Philadelphia victory snapped a six-game Washington winning streak and featured Gus Zernial's second home run of the season with the blast highlighting a four-run fifth inning uprising against starter Bob Porterfield.

Chisox Whip Tigers in 16

DETROIT, May 9 (AP)—Minnie Minoso's two-run triple in the 16th inning won the longest game of the 1952 major league season today, the Chicago White Sox whipping the last-place Detroit Tigers 8-5 in a four hour and 27-minute dual that began in daylight and finished under the lights.

Relief pitcher Bill Kennedy snuffed out a Tiger bases-loaded rally in the last of the 16th by striking out George Lerchen and getting Johnny Roth to ground out.

In all, 34 players saw action. An error by shortstop Johnny Lipon set up the winning tallies. With one out, Lipon fumbled winning pitcher Harry Dorish's grounder.

Nellie Fox singled and Minoso tripled. Eddie Robinson's single scored Minoso. Hal White, the sixth of seven Detroit pitchers, was the loser.

With two out in the 14th and the Tigers trailing 5-4, Steve Souchock drove the first pitch into the lower left field stands to keep the game going. The Sox had moved ahead in the top half of the 14th. Phil Masi walked, moved to second on Chico Carrasquel's sacrifice bunt and scored on Hector Rodriguez's single to center.

Yanks End Loss Run

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP)—It took two enemy errors plus hitting from an unexpected source to end the Yankees' three-game losing streak today, as the slump-ridden New Yorkers defeated the Boston Red Sox, 7-4, in a battle of bobbles.

Johnny Sain, who pitched the first seven innings, was the big man in the Yankees' nine-hit attack. In winning his second game, the veteran righthander hit a two-run homer and a double while driving in three runs.

But it was three unearned runs in the sixth inning which brought the fading world champions their fifth victory in 13 games. Errors by third baseman Johnny Pesky and shortstop Jim Piersall helped create the Yanks' three-run inning.

The defeat knocked the visitors out of first place in the American League. Cleveland's night contest with St. Louis was postponed.

Davey, Vejar in the Bucks

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK, May 9 (AP)—Education, It's wonderful.

Chuck Davey and Chico Vejar, two young fellows exposed to higher learning, set out to make an honest buck for themselves the other night in Chicago and wound up with several thousands of them.

How did they do it? Simply by climbing into a ring and trying to knock each other lop-sided with their fists, their remuneration for their night's work amounting to as much, or twice as much, as less gifted lads of their age earn in a year.

Davey holds two college degrees, and Chico is a freshman in dramatic arts at New York university, but because Davey you won't find him in a boxing ring. He won because he is a southpaw who had his younger opponent bewitched, bothered and bewildered by his confusing styles, and because he hit faster, and harder, and more accurately.

HE WON from here to Omaha, but he nevertheless knew he was in a fight as Chico is a very determined young fellow indeed, and is a discouraging opponent as every time he goes down — four times on this occasion — he bounces back up with a bright "Remember me?" and comes forward swinging.

Some of Davey's blows to Vejar's midsection made the TV set quiver and a gasp. Vejar's face would take on a pained, astonished look, his hands would grab the wounded region of his anatomy convulsively, and he'd slowly fold over like a burning match.

It was refreshing to see two bright young fellows putting on a good show for the fans. They represent the new faces the game needs if it is to continue to prosper. Not only the game needs new faces, but several of the ring-weary battlers who have been around quite a spell could use them, too.

Vejar, at 20, still is coming along, and anyone with his bulldog tenacity and ability to take punishment has a good chance to go somewhere.

It was Davey who impressed, though. At 26, a nice, ripe age for a fighter, he seems to have arrived, and he stands as a solid threat to Kid Gavilan's welterweight title.

Davey punches fast, and he also punches with authority. His left hand, held back threateningly like he was pulling the rubber strips of a slingshot, really explodes, and for a man not used to fighting southpaws it offers a real problem.

Giuliani Cools Williams in 5

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP)—Sammy Giuliani, a swarming mauler, celebrated his 20th birthday tonight with a technical knockout win over veteran Johnny Williams. Dr. Vincent Nardiello advised referee Teddy Martin to stop the fight after the fifth round ended. Giuliani weighed 155, Williams 145½.

Williams, a Montgomery, Ala., warrior of 67 pro starts was down for a nine count just before the fifth ended. He was reeling, practically out on his feet when the round was over as the young Stamford, Conn., middleweight wore him down with his 9½ pound weight advantage and heavier punching.

Two solid left hooks, following a right hand punch, drove a tired Williams through the ropes in the fifth. He barely made it nine.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., May 9 (AP)—Ed (Porky) Oliver ate lunch while most of the other Greenbrier Open golfers played, during the worst of a rain storm, then finished in the sun to hold his lead in the second round today.

The roly poly Lemont, Ill., veteran went one over par-70 despite the break he had in weather. But it was good enough to give him a one stroke lead over Jimmy Clark of Laguna Beach, Cal., and Sam Snead, the host pro.

Oliver had a 61 first round yesterday which set him up for a 36-hole total of 132 with 36 more holes to go.

Snead, who had been three strokes behind, pulled up with 69, and Clark hoisted himself right along with a 65, best score in the second round by any of the 37 pros.

Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., was two strokes behind Oliver with his second straight 67.

The whole field was caught in a violent rain storm accompanied by strong winds, thunder and lightning.

Clark, in the first threesome, had to play only the last hole in the storm. Snead played the last seven safeties, including homers by Paul Ludy and Dick Kroh, on loan from the CIL's UAW entry.

Losing hurler Walt Miller, a righthander, was chased after giving up ten hits and seven runs in five innings. Russ Cauffman finished up. Big inning was the fourth when the Gilberts washed out a 2-1 deficit with a four-run flurry.

HIT LEADERS turned out to be Kovach, Ciuri and Dori with a pair of singles each, but it was Graziana's triple that unhinged Leck and made it an easy route. Leck in his two innings struck out five, but had trouble with his down-breaking pitch. Too often it hung as easy bait or dipped into the dirt to give baserunners a picnic. Stravosky posted six kayoes, and spaced the five hits he surrendered over as many innings. He had the sacks swarming in the fifth, but got Kovach on a roller to end it. That was the size of his trouble.

HIT LEADERS turned out to be Kovach, Ciuri and Dori with a pair of singles each, but it was Graziana's triple that unhinged Leck and made it an easy route. Leck in his two innings struck out five, but had trouble with his down-breaking pitch. Too often it hung as easy bait or dipped into the dirt to give baserunners a picnic. Stravosky posted six kayoes, and spaced the five hits he surrendered over as many innings. He had the sacks swarming in the fifth, but got Kovach on a roller to end it. That was the size of his trouble.

Oliver Holds Lead In Greenbrier Golf

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., May 9 (AP)—Ed (Porky) Oliver ate lunch while most of the other Greenbrier Open golfers played, during the worst of a rain storm, then finished in the sun to hold his lead in the second round today.

The roly poly Lemont, Ill., veteran went one over par-70 despite the break he had in weather. But it was good enough to give him a one stroke lead over Jimmy Clark of Laguna Beach, Cal., and Sam Snead, the host pro.

Oliver had a 61 first round yesterday which set him up for a 36-hole total of 132 with 36 more holes to go.

Snead, who had been three strokes behind, pulled up with 69, and Clark hoisted himself right along with a 65, best score in the second round by any of the 37 pros.

Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., was two strokes behind Oliver with his second straight 67.

CONGRESS TOLD TO ACT QUICKLY ON CONTROL LAW

OPS Says Measure Needs Changing to Bar Rise in Food Prices

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—The Office of Price Stabilization told Congress today a quick change in the price control law is needed to prevent higher food prices and chaotic conditions in the merchandising trade.

OPS boss Ellis Arnall said that unless provisions of the Capehart amendment are clarified he will be compelled to boost ceiling prices on stocks in hundreds of thousands of food stores across the country.

A recent court decision, he reported, also made it possible for all sellers of merchandise to seek price increases under the amendment. Arnall said the effects of the decision could be "disastrous to effective price stabilization."

In letters to the Senate and House banking committees, which handle controls legislation, the OPS chief said that if the nation's merchandisers lined up for price increases it would make uniform dollars-and-cents ceilings or standards markups almost impossible, and create a virtually impossible administrative problem.

THE CAPEHART amendment was introduced by Senator Capehart (R-Ind.) at the last session of Congress and attached to the Wage and Price Controls act. It permits cost increases from June 24, 1950, the date fighting began in Korea, until the past July 26 to be added to retail prices.

OPS has been operating on the basis that the amendment applied only to manufacturers and processors of goods and to sellers of services.

Safeway Store, incorporated, a big food chain, contended, however, that the amendment applied to wholesalers and retailers. It sued for the right to boost prices and was upheld by the Emergency Court of Appeals, a special bench which handles price cases. The Government is considering an appeal to the Supreme court.

Arnall told Congress it is his understanding that Congress did not intend to apply the amendment to distributors. He said the court agreed that congressional debate and other comment was to that effect, but that it held the language of the provision is "so broad that it must be applied to all businesses."

No matter what Congress does about the Capehart amendment, OPS indicated today, substantial increases in some food price ceilings are in prospect because of a drop in grocers' earnings.

Price control officials said increases of from one to several cents a package probably will apply to items like concentrated coffee, dry cereals, crackers, canned fruits, vegetables and most-canned meats.

WEST EUROPE DRAFTS TREATY TO POOL ARMIES

Expect Some Opposition To Ratification by France And West Germany

PARIS, May 9 (AP)—Six West European nations tonight initiated the draft of a treaty aimed at pooling their military resources in a unified army more than a million strong.

This army, intended to include 400,000 West German troops, is to be placed at the disposal of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) in the Western front against aggression.

It will come under the command of Marshal Alphonse Jvin, 62-year-old French military hero, in his capacity as chief of NATO's central ground sector.

But how soon West Germany will be able to start putting soldiers in uniform remains one of the big imponderables of the unification plan.

The parliaments of the six member nations — France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg — must act on ratification of the treaty after their foreign ministers sign it, probably before the end of this month.

THERE WILL be a long, hard fight in the parliaments of the two chief members, France and West Germany.

The European army is to be the first of a European defense community of a supra-national character. All its energies will be channelled into the task of husbanding and directing human and material resources for defense against possible aggression.

Through a common budget and a point armament program, the six nations hope to put these resources to the most frugal and effective use. Standardization of weapons is expected to be one aim.

Estimates last November envisaged 43 national contingents of 30,000 men, each made up of combat groups of 12,000 men supported by 18,000 housekeeping troops. The original aim — which now appears a long way off — was to reach this figure by the end of 1953.

France was allotted the raising of 14 national contingents, Germany and Italy 12, and Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg a total of five. France's share later was sliced to 12.

A COMMUNIQUE released after the signing in a salon of the French Foreign Office said the new defense community will "represent a new and essential stage on the road to formation of a United Europe."

The European defense community, as envisioned by the French as long ago as 1950 and supported by Eisenhower, would be the first phase in a more ambitious and imaginative plan to unify all Europe, economically, militarily and politically.

Ike Gives Definite No to Campaign

OSLO, Norway, May 9 (AP)—Gen. the U.S. other than "around June Eisenhower tonight reaffirmed his intention "not to campaign for the least one day" in Washington, then fly to Abilene.

Speaking to reporters during a coffee and brandy hour that followed a state dinner given for him by the Norwegian Government, he said:

"If the people want me for president, they will know where to find me."

The general, who came to Norway in the course of his farewell tour of North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries, said he has no plans for speeches in the U. S. after he gives up his job as supreme Allied commander around June 1 except a long-planned speech in his home town, Abilene, Kans., June 4.

Eisenhower told the newsmen that "I have said before and I say now that I do not plan to make any campaign" for the Republican presidential nomination.

The general said he still does not know the date he will return to

Labor Party Wins Seats in British Voting

LONDON, May 9 (AP)—Jubilant Laborites said tonight they had dealt the Conservatives their worst local election defeat since the war.

Thus far the Laborites have piled up net gains of 837 seats against net losses of 530 by the Conservatives in week-long elections of town and borough council members. The balloting, now more than two-thirds complete, ends tomorrow.

The Laborites denied but did not break the Conservative control over a majority of the nation's 1419 town and borough councils. Only one-third of the Council seats were up for election this year under a three-year rotation system. The Conservatives won big majorities in past elections.

But in new members elected the Laborites were ahead of the Conservatives by about 2 to 1, and party leaders said the results constituted "a second notice" that Prime Minister Churchill's Conservative government should quit.

THEY SAID the first notice was served in county council elections the past month, when Labor scored net gains of 354 seats against net losses of 302 for the Conservatives. The Laborites cut down the number of Conservative county councils from 54 to 50. There are 62 county councils in all.

The latest result, combining returns for all 391 boroughs and slightly more than half of the 572 town councils:

Laborites gained 883 seats, lost 46—net gain 837.

Conservatives gained 111, lost 641—net loss 530.

Judiciary Committee Okays McGranery

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—The Senate Judiciary committee today voted 8 to 4 to approve President Truman's nomination of Federal Judge James P. McGranery as attorney general of the United States.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.), who opposed McGranery in four-day committee hearings, promptly announced he will continue his fight to block confirmation of the 56-year-old Philadelphia jurist on the Senate floor.

Ferguson told newsmen he will also file a minority report setting forth the reasons for his opposition.

Witnesses during the hearings variously described McGranery as a tyrant on the bench who set Federal attorneys quaking with terror, and as a man of unchallenged integrity and great ability.

SENATOR WATKINS (R-Utah), who opposed McGranery, told reporters today he also would speak out against the nomination on the Senate floor, but that he assumed the Administration has enough

Peary Supplies Found in Arctic

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—An Air force crew, flying near the top of the world, has discovered a supply cache left by Rear Adm. Robert E. Peary during his polar expeditions in the early 1900s.

A brief dispatch received by Air Force headquarters from the Alaskan air command today said the cache had been found on the northern tip of Ellesmere island.

At this point the Peary expeditions left the last land to start a 500-mile trek over ice to the North Pole. The 1909 expedition reached it.

The dispatch gave this account of discovery of the cache:

The plane, commanded by Lieut. Col. William P. Benedict, of Pasadena, Calif., was making one of the current flights to the ice islands in the Arctic sea and was traveling at low altitude over Cape Columbia, on Ellesmere island.

The crew spotted the cache and saw what was described as a "sign post."

Upon landing, the group found the cache contained names and dates between 1900 and 1909. There were four metal and wood boxes, their position marked by broken sled runners.

It indicated the things in the cache had been left there after being examined by the plane's crew.

Hearing Postponed On Manslaughter

The hearing in a New Jersey district traffic court for an East Greenville RD 1 man charged with involuntary manslaughter this past April 27 was postponed yesterday.

No date was set for the hearing of Philip Fadil, 38, driver of a late-model truck in which his father, George Fadil, was killed early on the morning of April 27, near Phillipsburg, N. J.

A State policeman of the Washington, N. J., barracks last night reported, "The hearing was scheduled for today, but district court Judge George Shipman postponed all hearings in Phillipsburg. He set no date for the hearing, but it probably will be held sometime next week."

The accident occurred when the two Fadils were returning from New York City. The truck ran off the road and struck a concrete abutment in Lopatcong township, Warren county, about 2½ miles from Phillipsburg.

POLICE REPORTED after the accident the involuntary manslaughter against the younger Fadil was a technical charge.

The father was killed instantly when his head dashed against the windshield. The son was uninjured.

'MOSE' MOORE —

"I'm trying you the same as a first offender for drunken driving because I think you were under the influence at the time you committed this crime."

"If you would stay away from liquor you would be all right," Judge Corson said. "Keep away from fast company."

The fine in such a case ordinarily would be $200, the judge said, adding he reduced it $50 because the legal costs of the case were far heavier than usual.

The crash that Moore fled followed a chase by Pottstown Patrolmen Frank J. Hall and William Myers, who first spotted him going through a red light. Moore left behind two occupants of the car who were slightly injured.

THE SPEEDWAY driver was arrested 18 days after the accident by Charles D. Steller, who then was Lower Pottsgrove patrolman. This case marked Moore's second appearance before Judge Corson. At the first, he fined Moore for reckless driving and speeding charges brought by Pottstown Motor Patrolman Paul I. Galloway and Patrolman William A. Mars.

Judge Corson noted yesterday: "The authorities in Pottstown have done a fine job in policing this man. They have affected their purpose now in having his operator's license revoked."

Assistant District Attorney Nicholas H. Larzelere joined in with: "The police in Pottstown and its area were mainly interested in getting him off the highway."

Defense Attorney Robert Truckess had contended at his "not guilty" trial that Pottstown police were "out to get" Moore, a contention the judge questioned at the time.

first, doctors second."

MOTKO, WHO speaks carefully, but with general carelessness, said he felt that a big factor in his comeback was the prayers said for his recovery, both at home and in church during masses said for his benefit.

Joining in the prayers were his family, neighbors, his rector, the Rev. John D. Tapchik, rector of St. John's Greek Catholic church, and the Rev. Stephen Vleck, rector of Holy Trinity Catholic church, and the Rev. John Najah, rector of St. Peter's Catholic church.

Although he has a long road ahead before he can walk without a cane or speak without hesitation, Motko was able to say yesterday as he left his church, where he makes daily visits: "It certainly is a wonderful day."

A lifelong Pottstown resident, Motko served with the Army in the South Pacific during World War II. One of his jobs was to help bring back damaged equipment left at the front. As he observed yesterday, he got through this without a wound, only to be injured critically on Route 422 on a sunny Sunday afternoon.

Before his accident, he was a chipper for Bethlehem Steel company. He is unmarried and one of six children.

peace by Chief County Detective Albert M. Murphy, who led the nighttime raid.

The six confiscated machines were taken by truck to Norris-town, where they were stored in the courthouse basement.

The raid was the third on slot machines in Pottstown clubs in the past four years.

In recent months, it has been the policy of the county Court to give jail terms to men convicted on slot machine charges.

The district attorney ordered the raid after receiving a formal complaint about the "slots."

TOBACCO BOOST NOTED

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—The Agriculture department said today last year's tobacco crop was worth $1,190,920,000, an increase of $142,417,000 over 1950.

EAST GREENVILLE

Victor Stahl, Tel. Pennsburg 7264, Paul Wiegner, Del. Tel. Pennsburg 7497.

A military leave of absence was granted Warren Sterling, teacher of commercial subjects, at last week's meeting of the board of directors of the East Greenville school district. Sterling, a native of Bloomsburg, has been recalled to active duty with the Naval Reserve starting June 11, for a two-year tour of duty. His position will be filled by the board at a later date.

A resolution was adopted by the board approving an eight-week Summer playground program, similar to a schedule of activities conducted in the past years. No supervisors were named.

The 1952-53 budget was discussed but definite action was deferred pending the extent of districts entering into the Upper Perkiomen Joint School board consolidation program. East Greenville, Red Hill and Upper Hanover Township presently comprise the new jointure with the possibility of five more area school districts entering into the agreement for a joint school set-up.

The annual May Day festival of the East Greenville schools took place on the high school athletic field. More than 300 elementary and high school pupils participated in the production featuring the crowning of the May queen, Jeanette Bartman. The entire program was under the supervision of Grace Nesbitt, girl's physical education instructor.

Attendees to the pueens were Gloria Benner, Audrey DeLong, Phyllis Hillegass, Shirley Cashatt, Joan Hayes, Nancy Swenk, Margaret Stauffer, and Sadie Geiger. Senior class girls formed the hemlock train. Cast in supporting roles as heralds were Lucy Bauman and Jean Babel; crown bearer, Shirley Weber; scepter bearer, Tony Stoudt; jesters, Frances Swicz and Dorothy Wentling and ambassador, Kathryn Hacker.

Specialty numbers by various grades were: First, Queens soliders; Second — English dancers; Third, French dancers; Fourth — American dancers; Fifth — Irish dancers; Ninth, African ceremonial dance, featuring Phoebe Willaret and Geraldine Charles; Tenth — Hawaiian dancers; 11th, Mexican hat dance, with Claire Bonenberger and Shirley Miller as the main couple; and a Spanish interpretative dance with Joan Rothenberger as the tereador and Sue Hoyer and Nadine Hunter portraying the bull.

Student personnel assisting Miss Nesbitt were Edna Steinman, Marion Krauss, Sally Nunan, Faith Nunan, Janine Lerchenmiller and Phyllis Hunsberger.

A total of seventy-six pints of blood were contributed by donors during visit of the American Red Cross bloodmobile in St. Mark's Lutheran church. Eighteen additional would-be contributors were rejected by the personnel staffing the unit.

The visit was arranged through Mrs. R. Harland Horton, blood donor chairman of the Upper Perkiomen Red Cross district. She was assisted by members of the Perkiomen Valley Women's club, including Mrs. E. E. Cleaver, Mrs. Raymond Fluck, Mrs. Edward Erb, Mrs. Betty Hildebrand, community nurse, and Mrs. George Roth, R. N.

All officers and directors of the East Greenville Building and Loan association were re-elected at the 32nd annual election of the group. Named to serve again were: John L. Dimmig, president; Hashey H. Kolb, vice-president; William H. Smith, secretary; Leroy L. Gabel, assistant secretary, and Warren Stauffer, treasurer. Directors re-named in addition to the officers were: Frank B. Dietz, Foster C. Hillegass, Owen S. Hoffman, Arthur H. Huber, Worman A. Jones, Elmer K. Krauss, Robert A. Lafey, Ray U. Rapp, and Stanley H. Snyder.

Final settlement of the purchase of forty-one acres of land from Harley Getz was announced at the recent session of borough council. The tract, adjoining the borough works along the Perkiomen creek, will be used to develop the borough water supply. Council also voted to resurface and make necessary repairs to a number of alleys and several portions of streets during the Summer. Councilman Henry Lachman presided in the absence of president, Addy Ziegler, who is vacationing in California.

Miss Clara Gehman, cor. Phone Bally 43-R-1, Yoder Bros., del. Phone Bally 98-R-1.

Irvin Schantz of Loman, Minn., is spending some time here with his brothers, Allen and Norman Schantz.

The Rev. Jacob Clemens and wife, of Lansdale, were recent guests of Paul Longacre and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Clemens of Lansdale were guests of Arland Longaker and family.

Roy and Ray Yoder, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Yoder, were among the group to go to New York on Saturday and Sunday on the trip sponsored by The Mercury for the Mercury carriers.

Flower Placing On Burial Lot Set by Judge

By Staff Correspondent
NORRISTOWN, May 9 — Provisions for the placing of flowers on his burial lot will be carried out, it was shown by an adjudication today in the estate of Irvin B. Walt, Pottstown, who died Aug. 12, 1951.

Judge Forrest directed that $500 be set in trust with the Citizens National Bank and Trust company of Pottstown for this purpose as expressed in the will, and flowers will be purchased at appropriate times. The will provides the bank is to receive $10 a year for this service.

The court also ruled that the balance of the $21,001 estate is to be awarded as follows: gold ring, watch and chain appraised at $7 and $500 to LeRoy Kummerer, nephew; $500 to Frances Ondo; $500 to Francis Yerger, nephew; $500 to Herbert Yerger, grandnephew; and one-half of the residue each to John B. Walt and Warren B. Walt, brothers.

In the estate of Henry Radke, Pottstown, who died July 14, 1951, a balance of $5982 is awarded, $100 for burial lot care, and one-fourth of the residue each to Annie Leveille, sister, Cora Rhoads, sister-in-law, Mary Keho, niece, and estate of Minnie Rath, niece.

A BALANCE of $98.09 in the estate of Jacob C. Rhoads, Lower Pottsgrove, who died Aug. 8, 1951, is awarded to Cora Z. Rhoads, wife, in trust.

A balance of $14,569 in the estate of Mary Lightkepp, Trappe, who died March 7, 1942, is awarded by an adjudication by Judge Forrest, specially presiding in Orphans' court, to the Memorial hospital of Pottstown to furnish and maintain a room in memory of her father, Milton B. Schrack.

The account was filed with the court as a result of the death of H. Elmer Schrack, a brother, on April 26, 1951. His death terminated a trust that had been set up for his life interest.

The hospital, formerly the Homeopathic hospital of Pottstown, by assignment on Jan. 20, 1949, had assigned its interest in the estate to the National Iron Bank of Pottstown as collateral security for an existing mortgage of $135,000.

Judge Forrest ruled the court could not turn over the money should be turned over as assigned.

"I AM unable to recognize this assignment or to make an award under it to the assignee," wrote Judge Forrest. "The bequest of the residue to the hospital is not absolute, but is impressed with a trust to maintain and furnish a room in the hospital in memory of the father of the testatrix."

"It is the duty of the legatee, not the assignee as such, to perform the conditions. They cannot be delegated by the legatee. Therefore the net ascertained balance for distribution is awarded to the Homeopathic hospital of Pottstown, now the Memorial hospital of Pottstown, for compliance with the provisions of the will."

Mercury Retriever

A dog who likes to read his Mercury is "Jeep," a white, short-haired canine who picks up the paper every morning for his owner, Mrs. Anna Eachus, Pine Forge. Jeep has a nose for news. No matter where the paper is thrown, he always finds it.

Early Morning Chore of Dog Is Carrying in The Mercury

A dog who enjoys the smell of fresh ink finds The Mercury each morning for his Pine Forge master with a twist and sniffle of the nostrils.

"Jeep," a white, short-haired mongrel whose physical features resemble a fox terrier, has been retrieving The Mercury for the past four years.

Shortly after he wandered onto the 34-acre farm of Mrs. Anna Eachus, Boyertown RD 2, Jeep was given the early morning assignment of locating the paper.

Mrs. Eachus said, "Sometimes she has to get it out of the rose bush and sometimes in the winter it takes her a considerable amount of time before she finds it."

THE PINE Forge woman explained the naming of the female dog Jeep. She said, "When the dog came here, my daughter, Shirley, was reading a book about a dog named Jeep and that's why we selected that name."

Jeep has other morning chores. He serves as an alarm clock for Shirley and Jack Eachus, both students at North Coventry High school.

During the day Jeep romps free in the fields with the head of the family, Lowry Eachus.

Besides her morning chores she serves as an inside watch dog. Whenever anyone knocks at the door she shows a mouth of leg-destroying teeth.

Some 'Gas' Facilities Told to Hold Reserve

WASHINGTON, May 9 — The Government today ordered operators of bulk gasoline plants, terminals and large filling stations in 32 states and the District of Columbia to reserve supplies of motor gasoline for possible allocation to maintain essential transportation.

The Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD), which issued the order, estimated it may affect about one-half all filling stations in the covered area.

Ample Fuel Is on Hand

The Government's order establishing reserve supplies of gasoline will not affect the operations of Pottstown distributors at the present time.

Despite the strike, they all have ample supplies of fuel on hand and have been able to take care of all customers since the walkout began.

"I've gotten all I've wanted so far," said one distributor last night, "though if the strike continues, we may have to cut down next week."

If there is a cut-back, then the affect of the government's order will be felt. With their tanks full, the distributors all have more than the reserve limit. If the supply drops, then they will have to start rationing orders.

Not Starved for Affection

Debbie, the toy Manchester terrier who wedged herself into a pipe for four days after running away from her owner, Mrs. Doris F. Wall, of Pottstown RD 3, is getting plenty of affection to make up for the exhausting experience. Petting the dog shortly after her return yesterday morning are Mrs. Wall's two children, Jerry, 2, and Jacqueline, 5. Although Debbie was in a starved condition when found in the pipe, she is expected to recover from her four-day fast with no lasting ill effects.

It wasn't until yesterday morning, however, that Mrs. Wall's qualms about the runaway terrier were stilled. At 11 a. m. Debbie came home in the arms of one of the road workmen.

The dog had been found on the nearby farm of Joseph Slobodnek, Pottstown RD 3, wedged in the middle of a 20-foot long piece of galvanized pipe stacked for use in constructing the new road.

Slobodnek heard a crying sound come from the pipe, and found a frightened, emaciated puppy inside. The farmer quickly retrieved the terrier, gave the starving dog some bread, and quickly sent him home with the workman.

"Debbie was in pretty bad shape when she got home," reports Mrs. Wall. "She was so exhausted after being in that pipe four days that she could hardly stand up. Her bones were sticking out all over, she was so thin."

After a bath and a meal, Debbie was still unnerfed from her grueling experience, but she began to regain a little of her old spirit in response to the hugging and kissing administered by Mrs. Wall's two children.

And just in case Debbie hasn't learned her lesson, her owner is going to keep her tied up outside from now on.

MRS. WALL began a search when the terrier failed to come back several hours later. On Tuesday she inspected the farm houses in the area, without success, and then decided to put a notice in The Mercury.

Navy Hearings Opened On Sinking of Hobson

BAYONNE, N. J., May 9 — A Naval court of inquiry today began gathering secrecy-studded testimony from survivors of the destroyer-minesweeper Hobson, sunk in a mid-Atlantic collision with the carrier Wasp.

While the press was permitted to attend the hearing sessions at the Navy yard annex here, testimony on signals and maneuvers in the simulated wartime activity of the vessels on April 26 was classed as secret at many points.

YOUR GEM STORY FOR TODAY

Mr. K. M. of Schwenksville writes, "Where and how is Platinum found?"

Platinum is found in Russia, Canada, South America, and Africa. It, like Gold is found in the form of flattened or rounded grains. Platinum nuggets are rarer than gold ones, but the largest one yet found weighed 21 pounds.

Although probably known in earlier civilizations as an unworkable metal, it was first named in 1748 by the Spanish Conqueror of the new world as Platino del Pinto, or "little silver of the river, Pinto." The Pinto River is found in Colombia, South America.

Platinum was first recognized as a separate metal by the Europeans as being a "white gold" from Mexico. It was mainly of scientific interest until the prime deposits were discovered in Russia. Russia has always boasted the inventions of almost all worthwhile articles. They claim the invention of the automobile, the airplane, and the electric light; but some how they seem to have missed the perfection of the Platinum Process, even though a great abundance of it was found in their own country. We can't remember hearing of any Russian claim of the processing of this wonder metal; but no doubt there is one for they have claimed to have discovered practically everything else.

An antique dealer from Pottstown wants to know, "What are the different types of finishes that can be seen on silver today?"

Only three. They are the Butler, Bright, and Gray Finish.

The Butler Finish duplicates the finish which resulted from the English butlers practise of constantly cleaning and polishing the family silver with the palm of the hand. It is produced by first polishing the article brightly and then dulling it with a wire brush wheel.

The Gray Finish is one that is distinctly darker in tone than the Butler.

The Bright Finish is mirror-like, and since mirrors are themselves silver, this finish is perhaps found in no other polished material. It is obtained by polishing the article on a rapidly revolving cotton buff wheel, usually coated with silver rouge. This finish is by far the most popular in America today.

See you next Saturday.

Starved Dog Back With Owner After Spending 4 Days in Pipe

Debbie, the 6-months-old toy Manchester terrier belonging to Mrs. Doris F. Wall, of Pottstown RD 3, would probably agree there's no place like home after living in a galvanized pipe for four days this week.

If Debbie is appreciative of her comfortable living quarters now, she wasn't Monday afternoon when she scampered away from her owner's home three miles out of Pottstown along Route 663.

As usual, Mrs. Wall had let Debbie out for some fresh air around noon-time. Normally well-behaved, the black-tan terrier seemed to suffer a touch of Spring fever as she began chasing wildly about the area, rolling over several times, and ignoring her master's summons to come back in the house.

"I decided to go back in, expecting the dog to follow me," related Mrs. Wall. "Instead, she ran in the other direction. Some nearby road workmen tried to grab her, but Debbie slipped away and kept on running."

MRS. WALL began a search when the terrier failed to come back several hours later. On Tuesday she inspected the farm houses in the area, without success, and then decided to put a notice in The Mercury.

Chamber Spend Money? Reader Knew Better

He's Not Surprised

To the Editor: My eye was caught by a headline on an inside page of today's copy of my Mercury. It said: "Council Committee to Act on Donation." I thought, what's this, is the chamber finally going to spend some money? No, not this time, either. I found out after reading down through the story that the Chamber was not in favor of spending its money but somebody else's again, this time the borough's to get $300 for an air show for the Bicentennial.

From my experience with the Chamber, it always has its hand out for somebody to provide the money for it to do something. It seems to me the Chamber should try spending some of its own money for a change. What helps Pottstown, helps them.

'First Things First'

To the Editor: I saw in today's paper that the Chamber of Commerce wants the borough to put up $500 for an air show at the airport, to help celebrate the Bicentennial.

I have nothing against air shows or the Bicentennial, but I hope that before council donates any such sum for a luxury, they send somebody out here in the North End for another look at some of these unpaved streets.

First things first.

Always Mother's Day

To the Editor. Hurrah! Hurrah! They are actually digging mother out of the attic for the big day. The other 364 days they don't know she exists.

It burns me up, the attitude the younger generation takes toward Mother.

They treat her like an old piece of discarded furniture. She is all tucked away in the cellar or attic just wherever there is room for her.

In fact, the family poodle gets better treatment than some Moms do.

Then on this special day they break down and buy her a box of candy but eat it themselves.

Mother would by far appreciate a few kind words and some consideration.

I am a mother, also have a mother, and if I have any kind deeds and presents for Mother, I am not waiting until Mother's Day or until she kicks the bucket.

For I think every day should be Mother's Day while she is still with us.

Gives Due Credit

To the Editor: Parents in Pottstown are quick to criticize our public school system for anything they feel is lacking in its educational program.

The Annual Spring concert presented Thursday night by the Senior High school choral groups gave us all an opportunity to see the end results of something our children are getting.

That more parents could not have been interested enough to spare one night to hear such a concert was both a shame and a tragedy.

It was superior in both content and performance and Mr. Edward O'Neill more than deserved the praise he received.

Acquaintance with such music and the advantages of such training must surely have some greatly to be desired effect on those participating students.

How must they have felt to see so few parents willing to share the end results of their hard work?

Fit Punishment

To the Editor: I have a good idea of how to punish these hot-rodgers who scare the wits out of people.

Why don't we get them all together and take them out to the Junior High school track. Once there, we could tie them to some poles and then hire some dare-devil drivers to come roaring at them doing about 80 miles an hour.

Of course I don't suggest we hit them—just maybe give them a good scare. Let them see how it feels to have a car racing toward them.

Ike Will Lose Ground Whatever His Position

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's political managers are giving close study to a recent poll showing how many voters he would gain or lose by making definite commitments on 1952's most important and popular issues.

Although the canvass was confined to Eisenhower supporters throughout the country, the results will be of interest to all his rivals for the presidential nomination, and to Democratic and Republican platform-makers at Chicago.

The returns, which accord with the politicians' own checkup and correspondence from their constituents, show that foreign and domestic spending, taxation and economy, social security changes, labor and fair employment legislation, are the questions on which the candidates and parties may stand or stumble at the conventions and in the election.

Listed below are the estimated gains and losses for "Ike" when and if he makes known his views, as he is expected to do on his return next month, as well as Senator Taft's spoken or recorded attitude on these specific subjects.

COST: Taft-Hartley Act: Support of this statute would cost Eisenhower 15 percent of his present following, whereas he would lose 13 percent, if he declared for its repeal.

As author of this legislation, the Ohioan has fought attempts to abolish it. He has introduced more than a score of amendments for improving its operation, but Administration leaders have blocked any action on them.

Social Security: "Ike" would toss away 9 percent of his support if he announced in favor of an increase in benefits, and would drive away 36 percent with a negative statement. Taft is understood to be satisfied, at least for the present, with current levels.

Domestic spending: The general would alienate 50 percent of his admirers by approving the Truman style of spending, and lose only 2.7 percent by demanding a reduction in the budget. Taft has promised to reduce outgo by 15 percent within one or two years, if elected.

Foreign loans and grants: Thirty-three percent of Eisenhower's supporters would leave him if he favors the current form of generosity, while only 10 percent would resent a declaration in favor of substantial reductions in overseas economic and military aid.

Taft supports the proposed $1,000,000,000 cut in Mutual Security funds for economic assistance, and has generally been bearish on this issue.

VOLUNTARY: Taxation: Endorsement of today's rates, and schedules would cost "Ike" 27 percent of his backing, as against a loss of only 2.7 percent, if he joins with Senator Taft and almost every other ambitious politico by insisting on drastic and general reductions from today's peak.

Compulsory Fair Employment Practices Commission: Open opposition would mean the loss of 25 percent of his support, while a declaration in favor would antagonize only 7 percent. Taft believes in a voluntary system to be supervised by the States.

Ironically, the tally suggests that Taft would not be seriously hurt as a candidate by his labor views, although the workingman's supposed opposition is always advanced by intra-party enemies as an argument against his selection.

On the other hand, General Eisenhower's great asset in the eastern section of the country—his approval of foreign spending, as reported by Campaign Manager Lodge and Paul G. Hoffman, former ECA Administrator—does not assay so high with his nationwide bloc.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

DONALD T., 24, works in a Chicago office.

"Dr. Crane, I am trying to get a job with American Airlines," he informed me as I was talking to some friends after church one Sunday morning.

"Your name would carry weight so I wonder if you'd be willing to write me a letter of recommendation."

"I'll gladly come over to your office and have a visit with you or answer any questions," he concluded.

Now I had never seen or heard of Donald before that Sunday morning.

"If it is a character reference you wish, why don't you ask your clergyman to write you a letter?" I inquired.

"He says he doesn't know me so he doesn't feel that he could write a letter for me," Donald naively replied.

"WELL, DONALD I'm afraid my letter wouldn't do you any good, either," "for I'd be unable to say I had known you for any length of time, I continued.

"A character reference is supposed to be based on detailed knowledge of the person in question, presumably covering several years of time."

"It would look bad for me to say I had known you only a few minutes but was trying to endorse your character."

"So why don't you get one of your high school teachers to recommend you? A high school instructor's name would carry weight. And he could offer a more precise endorsement of your perseverance, hard work and faithfulness to duty."

"Thank you, Dr. Crane. I hadn't thought of that. I'll do it, for I'm sure I can get several of my former teachers to serve as references."

Donald looked like an intelligent fellow but he certainly didn't act the part when he asked a total stranger to write him a character reference!

Every young person ought to plan his life far ahead and make those financial, religious and employment contacts which will serve as adequate endorsements.

Don't wait till you get in a dilemma and then suddenly start cultivating people for use as references.

Actually, Donald lowered himself in my estimation by asking me to be his character reference.

Whenever you want an acquaintance to write you a letter of recommendation, notify that man by letter. Or telephone him in advance so that he can be prepared.

In this busy age, an executive or your former teacher may not recognize your name on the spur of the moment, unless you are an especially close friend.

As a psychology teacher, I have had over 5000 university students, but I don't recall all their names through the years.

I have no objection to their citing me as a reference as regards their classroom work.

HOLLYWOOD, May 9.—June Haver, still suffering with that troublesome back, won't be able to work till June. Which means "The Girl Next Door," (partially completed when she entered a hospital weeks ago) must wait some more.

By next month though, the Haver hopes to finish those dance routines with Dan Dailey. . . . June's sister, Evelyn incidentally, is about to remarry Jim MacNamara whom she divorced last year. . . . Alan Ladd doesn't toil for Paramount anymore—but he does a lot of business with that studio. Its commissary still buys countless dozens of eggs every week from Ladd's poultry ranch in Hidden Valley. . . . Therefore this incident which occurred yesterday at the casting office of Columbia Broadcasting Co. on "Radio Row." Now that Shirley Temple's welcomed her second baybee, she and Commander Charles Black are hoping they'll soon be able to move from Washington to the Beverly Hills. But that doesn't mean Shirley is resuming her film career.
